★ WE, THE CITIZENS is the first high-school text ever devoted to political and civic responsibilities, for young people who within a few years will be 21.

★ It is a long-needed direct attack on the problem of non-participating citizenship.

★ The 21 units contain 227 study and activity projects in political and civic affairs.

★ WE, THE CITIZENS is a practical, objective, "how to do it" book. It provides for study of the structure and function of government through study of the alert, active citizen's part in government. It is aimed at developing skills in civic participation and attitudes of civic responsibility.

1. To improve pupil work in social studies

This book offers a systematic way of teaching the 20 basic social-studies skills, and a systematic plan for checking on pupil achievement in each skill.

2. To increase the number of useful skills taught

Schools have been criticised for not teaching more concrete, useful skills. But schools using this book can say, "Look, we are teaching this skill, that skill—20 skills useful throughout life—in one class!"

3. To relieve teachers of endless detail

Here is a labor-saving teaching aid that rescues many hours of preparation and classroom time, saves the need of formulating practice materials and tests, and all resulting mimeographing costs. Pupils do not mark in the book, so it may be used by a different class each period.

Now in its 5th printing:

Join the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics

I. The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics carries on its work through two publications.

1. The Mathematics Teacher. Published monthly except in June, July, August and September. It is the only magazine in America dealing exclusively with the teaching of mathematics in elementary and secondary schools. Membership (for $3) entitles one to receive the magazine free.
2. The National Council Yearbooks. The only available yearbooks at present are the third on "Selected Topics in Teaching Mathematics," the fourth on "Significant Changes and Trends in the Teaching of Mathematics Throughout the World Since 1910," the sixth on "Mathematics in Modern Life," the eighth on "The Teaching of Mathematics in Secondary Schools," the fourteenth on "The Training of Mathematics Teachers of Secondary Schools," the fifteenth on "The Place of Mathematics in Secondary Education," the sixteenth on "Arithmetic in General Education," the eighteenth on "Multi-Sensory Aids in Teaching Mathematics," the nineteenth on "Surveying Instruments—Their History and Classroom Use," and the twentieth on "The Metric System of Weights and Measures." These may be obtained for $3 each, postpaid. Send checks to Bureau of Publications. Teachers College, 525 West 120 Street, New York 27, New York—not to The Mathematics Teacher.

II. The Editorial Committee of the above publications is W. D. Reeve of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, Editor-in-Chief; Dr. Vera Sanford, of the State Normal School, Oneonta, N.Y.; and W. S. Schlauch of Dumont, N.J.
